and i was just another
west coast maximalist
exploring the blues
ignoring the news
from the front

where they're taking her children away
taking them where they wanna go tall ships made of snow invading the sun

some people call me 'angel'
on their death bed in a dream that's right
the Czars father thought things could've gone differently last night but they didn't

and i couldn't bear
to follow you there
where trauma exists in the sky 20th century masters
welcome these disasters
and so do i. but no!
oh baby please don't go
up into it.
