>From where she stands

The world is more heartless than grand

Over the seas

It's easy to think that you're free

>From the pain

Worn and defiled

As millions of people stand by

And she can't complain

How much more can her poor body take?

And we're so civilized

These dogs of war are never kind

Just when you thought that it was safe

This lovely human race

Does it one more time

I've no right to sleep

'Cause somewhere she silently bleeds

And history smiles

She laughs at the fools who ask why?

And we're so civilized

These dogs of war are never kind

Just when you thought that it was safe

This less than human race

Does it one more time

She must be somebody's mother

She must be somebody's mother

I know somebody must love her

Oh, she must be somebody's mother

She must be somebody's mother

Someone's lover or daughter

Isn't anyone thinking of her, oh

She must be somebody's mother!!!!
