music: elizondo, burk, dunsmore lyrics: dunsmore

a time will come, all eyes shall see the coming of foretold prophecies to eliminate all future pain horror is the price you pay realistic terror through the days evil minds bring evil ways war after war of man and beast darkness prevails
as death's unleashed

tribulation, cast in fire enter the ritual, of life's desire revelation laid to rest accept the wisdom, unholy test wear the mark, evil sign symbol of a darkened mind suicide or salvation blackened heart brings deception confusion - am i living or dying searching - for my fate left beyond survivor of a hell on earth descending, i'm waiting to burn judgement's been passed this day is the last fire from the heavens

the ultimate task the beast shall rise out of the sea bringing forth words of blasphemy separation of powers of both by the law foretold by prophets in visions they saw out of the earth the second shall rise unsightly miracle death shines in his eyes

tomorrow we die

feel the fire burn deep inside no escape - no reprise

solos: elizondo
burk hypocrrisy, the chosen few words of wisdom coming true

millennium twice passed by supremacy, the final wrath clear the bloodstains from the past countless bodies, piles of dead mystery now looms ahead
