I need help i can't leave i can't breathe. i see my way out but I'm in too deep to care. emotionless, i feel myself about to break.
Self-destruction, self corruption, this life i know, this life i hate.
With each passing day my outlets slip away. i believe the lies and I dig myself in deeper. i play a daily game of tug a war between What's in my heart and what's on my mind, not weighing circumstances, Passing blindly by my chances knowing some day i might die. in the Silence of my nightmare noone else can hear me scream, noone else knows What i need, noone else believes, i could die and not care. i need Something to set me free. reflections from my past that seem so unreal
To me, I'm out of touch i can no longer feel me, my heart is sick and My mind is reeling. don't know myself, don't know why i still don't care
. I'm the only one that's paying, and I'm the only one that's playing.
The more i struggle the more i lose. i dig myself in deeper and still Don't care then the moment comes when you reach for my heart, i know It's to hard to find
