when your friends hurt you, they know it isn't good, you don't respect them, i know that i never could. when it comes to respect you must give to receive, with friends like these, who need enemies. from what I've heard one who hurts is not a friend. choose them wisely or they'll hurt you in the end. when it comes to looking for friends, most pick and choose. the ones that don't are the ones that always seem to lose. it's happened to me. you know I've seen it before

but the good friends the true friends are the ones that endure
. like i said, respect is not a given, neither is trust in the world that we're living. the trust is not there with friends lik e these, i have no respect for people like these. who will be hurt? who will hurt who knows? it won't be me no way, but i know.
we've all allowed and we all will again be hurt by people, the people we call friends
