How many times will you keep hitting your head against the wall til you realize it just makes you fall

all your beautiful trees
bring me to my knees
I wish I could stay here and make a little heaven with you here how many times will you go back with her til you realize it will never work now look what you've gone and done can't you see she's not the one

make a little heaven with you here baby I'm so good for you and you know it's true
