He's all I know
And I know he needs me
Lips are a shore
Through a mouth into sea
Cause it makes no sense
To walk in the dark
Again and again
So I push the heart
It's alright though
I could let go
With just one breath
I could wait there under water
Until the moment I release into air
He's all I have

All I have in my mind
Wings are a path
On a back into sky
Then you circle above
Just to frame the view
And it makes no sense
But it's clear to you
It's alright though
I could let go
With just one breath
I could wait there under water
Until the moment I release into air
