I will take this moment with me to the end, to the withered light
And I won't break like you hoped I would
A lost cause to want out.

Fractured breathing won't last
Always hoping for the best
Your intentions were never as good as our dream.

I want everyone to know just how hard this is to keep on through the rain
And I won't be, be reminded of the blackest nights and bleakest days I know.

Fractured breathing won't last
Always hoping for the best
Your intentions were never as good as our dream.

The darkest nights don't break our cause
The pride we hold to lose will not fall
The darkest nights don't change our hearts Are we holding our breath? We're not breaking our hold.

Withered heart to break through the dark, x2 (Give me strength to fight back, to carry on).
