Your eyes to take cover
And all your lies will see the truth stand tall
I'm drowning in you

The time has come to take it back
But this silence between two words
And I promise that this is for real, another planned attack

I meant every second
Every last word
I'm drowning in you
And I can't change the past
I'm drowning in your plight to fall
This time it's on you
You will take the blame for every single word

I cannot take it
To rise for air
And I cannot take this
To run from
I cannot take this
To rise for air
I cannot take this
My sense's gone and running from your eyes

Once more I fade in the abyss of your failing heart
