

Devil Sold His Soul

"The Waves And The Seas"

Visit "The Waves And The Seas" on MotoLyrics.com

Taking back what we couldn't see through the smoke as the edges fall But we never have a clear route to choose and now we have only one Broken light filters through the cracks
It's all the future has ever offered us
But we don't need faith as we fall from the sun we collide

All paths lead to the grave
This won't be the end We're stuck in this lonely abyss
where's the other side?
And we don't hold back as we push through the waves and the seas Never good enough for them
It was never as hard for them all But if only we could push through these waves
We fall from the sun, we collide

Fate fortunes the brave the harder you fight; less to regret Hopeless and shaking; take my hand

You don't take sides
it's frozen; a lasting abyss
The winds pull down a faultless clear sky
You can't take the glow and beauty away
The direction is ablaze
You don't take sides
it's frozen; a lasting abyss
With the clarity of moments passed
We can take the mountains as they come Take my hand

Fate holds fortune for the brave.

Visit Devil Sold His Soul page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

