Dig Deep, Dig in Deeper You go where only fools fear to tread you'll find devices to kill your master why not kill your maker instead Leave it to the ones who own you Leave it to the ones who disown you put your faith and trust in the dusk do what you must do

I'M getting edgy for those departed left all alone, left still forgotten
miles to go and skies to fly
Hold back the day
Miles to go and skies to fly
it's darkest before the dawn
miles to go and skies to fly
Hold back the day
Miles to go and skies to fly
it's darkest before the dawn claw hard from your casket six feet and getting deeper should the top soil feel heavy it must be getting weaker towers people build up in life become frail and fall to the ground fuck them, their opinion decieving the honest man

I'M getting edgy for those departed
miles to go and skies to fly
Hold back the day
Miles to go and skies to fly

it's darkest before the dawn
miles to go and skies to fly
Hold back the day
miles to go and skies to fly
it's darkest before the dawn

Always, always darkest before the dawn always darkest before the dawn

always darkest before the dawn always darkest before the

I'M getting edgy for those departed
miles to go and skies to fly
Hold back the day
Miles to go and skies to fly
it's darkest before the dawn
miles to go and skies to fly
Hold back the day
Miles to go and skies to fly
it's darkest before the dawn

Darkest, Darkest

Always, always darkest before the dawn
always darkest, darkest
