A pain by any other name is death before its time is due
You survived and made it through Still inside the loss is buried deep with what you went through at the funeral Don't know how you pushed on, buried your creator

Took good care, such kind care

You looked so beautiful at your funeral Laid out and dressed your best as your daughter put
you to rest

You have such faith in life Can't tell you how many times you've given me my backbone

Took good care, such kind care

You looked so beautiful at your funeral
Laid out and dressed your best as your daughter put
you to rest
You looked so beautiful at your funeral
Laid out and dressed your best as your daughter put
you to rest

Waiting for November, trying to make you smile
A birthday shared by two, Scorpio's child

You looked so beautiful at your funeral
Laid out and dressed your best as your daughter put
you to rest
You looked so beautiful at your funeral
Laid out and dressed your best as your daughter put
you to rest
To rest, so rest, so rest

Buried in a far away place
Buried in a far away place
Buried in a far away place
