Sometimes
The sky is so gray, there's no way
The sun's right there above it
But it is
Sometimes you say is pointless, useless
Is not worth it
But it is

And most of the time
We're just trying to get by
And most of the time
Wrong is easier than right

And you don't need maps to go nowhere
You don't need tears if you don't care
And you'll never lose again
If you just give in, don't try to win
It's easy try do nothing
So why should we try to change anything?
There's a million ways to get lost
But just one way to the right place

There's no shortcuts in this life
The road is hard but you gotta try
To do right.
To do right.

If right now
The chance's right there, but you get scared
Or you tired to face it, or look away
Right now
There's people out there, in somewhere
Just waiting for someone to leave the way

And most of the time
It's hard enough just to survive

And most of the time
Wrong is easier than right

And you don't need maps to go nowhere
You don't need tears if you don't care
And you'll never lose again
If you just give in, don't try to win
It's easy try do nothing

So why should we try to change anything?
There's a million ways to get lost
But just one way to the right place

There's no shortcuts in this life
The road is hard but you gotta try
And it's so easy to believe that we're alone out there and no one cares
There's nothing we can do
You have to look inside yourself to be someone to someone else,
It all starts with you

And you don't need maps to go nowhere
You don't need tears if you don't care
And you'll never lose again
If you just give in, don't try to win
Cause it's easy try do nothing
So why should we try to change anything?
There's a million ways to get lost
But just one way to the right place

There's no shortcuts in this life
The road is hard but you gotta try
To do right.
Yeah you gotta try to do right
