V1:

You hurt me and I'll never be the same I Been round and round inside my mind in search of who's to blame
You've broken my faith in who we are Now your beggin for forgiveness and I don't know where to start

Chorus:

Baby I don't have the power to forget about the pain
I'm not strong enough to find shelter from the shame
Of seeing someone else's arms wrapped around the one I love
There's no mercy in this heart pierced by the damage
you have done
So I'm praying for the one thing I have not grace like God

V2:

Does it haunt you leaving innocence behind While I was waiting for a fairytale forever lost in time
Was it worth it? Did he give you what you missed?
I'd love to just move on but it all comes down to this

Bridge:

It's gonna take at least a couple of miracles at best
To find the strength to surrender and lay these demons down to rest.

End:

I need grace from above. I can only use Gods love to forgive you, to move on I need grace cause you hurt me
