It's all the same for all of us
A sinking ship to place to trust
It seems so huge to leave to chance.

Who among you can resist?
Her fingers wrapped around your wrist
From the beast she pulls a lover
From this world you will need no other

When it's all too much for you to take
Take a step back for heaven sake
It seems so foolish in this light

Who among you can resist?
Un furrowed brow and finger tips
From the beast she pulls a lover
From this world you will need no other
