"Too Tired"

Visit "Too Tired" on MotoLyrics.com

There is no moon reflecting in your eyes no romantic midnight skies no motive to disguise It's not your man that you're dreaming of your heart couldn't care enough you're too tired to be in love

You want to know, what's that god awful sound something's dragging on the ground the machine is breaking down and you never asked for more than you deserved no shallow poetic words from a song you've never heard and it's not your man...

It's nobodies fault sometimes these things come to a screeching halt regretful of the past you know these things won't last a life time gone so fast these things will never last
