Ive got to pick up the pieces by myself to reconcile
Inner peace to seek, in my final hours
In declination Ive built these towering walls around me
Its too late now, no turning back from the course
thats been set

My life is falling apart
And I tried, I fought with fortitude
The time has come to break free
All by my own hand

I cant decide, whats really right and what is wrong
Cant see clearly, distracted by affliction
Seeking shelter behind a shield of eternal rest
Never again, no rules to follow, this is about free will

My life is falling apart
And I tried, I fought with fortitude
The time has come to break free
All by my own hand

Nothing in my way
Reaching for higher ground
Oblivion of being
Theres a time for everyone

Im gone too far, beyond redemption
And all is well that ends well

Ive got to pick up the pieces by myself to reconcile
Inner peace to seek, in my final hours
In declination Ive built these towering walls around
me
Its too late now, no turning back from the course
thats been set

Nothing in my way
Reaching for higher ground
Oblivion of being

Theres a time for everyone
All by my own hand
