I called it once again it's not that difficult
You know that these words something that keeps me going strong Sometimes it's wrong but i know i'm afraid of who i really am

So sick of..
Everytime I try..you take the air so I can't breathe Torn up inside..this is a bit like dying but nothing will take me away..

There is no point in being around when every night turns out the same
There is no point in being alone when all the stars spell out your name

It's happened once again.. this dagger's drove into my heart

But what i wouldn't give to share a sunset with you Ill beache in so deep.. to swallow the moonlight and i'll give you the bluest of skies

So dry your eyes it's not good-bye
Its way too late to turn back and cry
If all goes wrong we'll always remember why we slept
so well at night

So dry your eyes it's not good-bye
Its way too late to turn back and die
If all goes wrong we'll always remember why we slept
so well at night

So sick of..everytime I try.. you take the air so i can't breathe
