The last time i saw you
You told me so much without even saying a word Whisper softly the way you want this to feel 'cause you know it's killing me

Don't tell me it's over
I don't want to wake up alone
How can you let me go so easily now after all that we've been through

Why do I always have to feel so much?
This is my last regret Hung these pictures up just to tear them down again...I do this all for you If all of this was just a mistake...then that's what I'll always be

Don't tell me it's over
How can you let me go so easily now after all that we've
been through

Tell me something i don't already know just tell something that I want to hear

And this is my last regret...this is my last regret to you
