Non given tuesday,
And only your star studded birthday suit remains
Long and tame
The end of sunday
A gain that's lost like once had now you're wishin
Don't be done

And the pain is just a comfort gone from missing
Like the green leaving when the wind starts hissing

Desire direction
And once a little vital laugh sings introspection
Redefined
Buried in brotherhood
My bodys built much braver cause I once befriended
But gone from me know

And the rivets in my past continue moving me
Like the bellows in bag pipes still blowing melody

Silent signs
I warm my cold november hands under your thighs
Stop my shiver
Honey that's me you hear roarin in your river
Like how you hold me deep inside when currents quiver
I'm reading your heart
