Fall to my knees and I wonder why I'm down, she could never know me
I've got demons in the wake of this old town
And I look inside myself, I free them once again Sky falls down as I look to myself, try to push them away
Running like the devil is on her heels
And she looks inside herself and frees him once again
I'll never walk away again so help me
I'll never walk away because I'm never enough to them
I'll never walk away again so help me
I'll never walk away
Swept away on a sudden summer night, see me falling
And I lose my grip on the one whose always been
And I look inside myself, I see her once again

All I want and all that I can be, completely different things
And maybe I need the truth to bring me home again
And I look inside myself, I'm coming home again
I'll never walk away again so help me
I'll never walk away because I'm never enough to them
I'll never walk away again so help me
I'll never walk away
Bring me back, please take me back, it's all I see, I'm slipping fast
Bring me back, please take me, back I'm slipping
I'll never walk away again so help me
I'll never walk away because I'm never enough to them
I'll never walk away again so help me
I'll never walk away
