"Into the Sea"

Visit "Into the Sea" on MotoLyrics.com

You see the tears of God falling down into the sea Horizon is calm as ice but that's not how it seems

Storm is rising from the north where the waves are made of sorrow We're sailing into a place Where I can rest in peace

Because of you, I guess we're through, this is the way it has to be The last page in our story has been full of lies and deceit

You were someone to believe in A place for hope in a changing world

I can no longer pay the price for damage done by your careless lies

Dear sister of every goddamned lie
A monster at heart, shepherd of the night Still standing proud like a Queen I see, but you your Empire has come to the end at least for me

God look at me now 'cos I
'cos I will soon belong to the sea

Forgive me now only in silence of water
I can find serenity
