This is the price you pay for sitting and not standing up Just complaining while watching the news About nowadays insane problems: traffic jam, pollution and crimes

Being subject to being stolen, kidnapped and murdered or just having fear of such illness
To lose your life because of some dough

Being subject to global heating and overpopulation Because you destroy this environment, including the ozone layer

This is the price you pay for buying much merchandise made by slave workers Supporting huge corporations that don't really mind about:

The humankind, the birds and fishes
Trees and animals, fertile soil, the nature
This power, the light, the life

This is the price you pay for putting yourself in front of something you're a part of Being so absent for social reasons Consuming everything around you

Being subject to this low quality of life Polluted air and water
We're killing this planet that we owe everything:

The humankind, the birds and fishes
Trees and animals, fertile soil, the nature
This power, the light, the life

This is the price you pay for unbalancing an ecosystem equilibrium
Thinking you're strong enough to live in your own universe

Being subject to lose it all, even the low quality of life
The fear of kidnap and murder
When the time comes you'll pay with:

The humankind, the birds and fishes
Trees and animals, fertile soil, the nature
This power, the light, the life
