When I'm down you don't want to know how I feel
It's too easy for you
Having me when it's all good
And at the moment I need you
Leaving me alone

How many times it will take you?
How many times it will take for you to understand?
How many times it will take you?

How many times it will take for you to understand?

Why did it take so long for you to see
That all I needed
Were all things you could have given me
You could have made it grow
Instead of leaving it wilt
