I've heard you secretly crying
You've seen me hit the wall
Over the years we've shared some tears
But moments made up for it all

The moment we traded our rings and our souls
The moment our children turned one breath old
Love is forever but it's held together
By moments of heaven on earth

First time I ever kissed you, has never quite left my lips
The stars that we shared
The moon in your hair, all of those movies we missed

The moment we traded our rings and our souls
The moment our children turned one breath old
Love is forever but it's held together
By moments of heaven on earth

Some moments just flash through the window of life
Waving the glow of the father's life
A small gift of grace
A moment to taste what heaven is gonna be like

The moment we traded our rings and our souls
The moment our children turned one breath old
Love is forever but it's held together
By moments of heaven on earth
Just moments of heaven, just moments of heaven on earth
