Thank you for blue skies
When my head is down you remind me to look up
And thank you for all those times
You believed when others couldn't see
Oh without you where would I be?
[Fade]

I wake up every morning to another crazy day I have to face
And when I'm losing my direction your the one who points me in the right way
You always know when I'm about to fall
It's like you're standing there when I hit that wall
Because of you my eyes are open
And instead of always hoping I have faith today

So thank you for blue skies
When my head is down you remind me to look up
And thank you for all those times
You believed when others couldn't see
Oh without you where would I be?
Oh thank you
Thank you
Thank you
Oh without you where would I be?
[Fade]

I should tell you in a letter all the things that I have never said.
Cause when you're right in front of me nothing ever comes out how I planned.
It's like a heart in you goes on for miles
And when it passes through me I come alive.
If I ever learned a lesson,
It's in the first and lasting inpression of the way you got me.

Thank you for blue skies
When my head is down you remind me to look up
And thank you for all those times
You believed when others couldn't see

Oh without you where would would I be?
