Who could ever doubt my love?
Who could ever doubt my love?

I've been falsely accused of being untrue to him
And it's not so
But it's the way he's misjudged me
That really hurts me so

When I've been nothing but good to him
Forsaking all others, giving my love to him
Who could ever doubt my love?

A victim of circumstance
I have been
But what really hurts is
Instead of believing me he believed his friends

When I've been nothing but good to him
Rearrange my life to please only him
Who could ever doubt my love?
Who could ever doubt my love?

I've been cast aside
Because he believed someone's lies
After I've done the best I could Still I've been so misunderstood

After I've been good to him
Good to him, so good to him
Who could ever doubt my love?
Who could ever doubt my love?
Who could ever doubt my love?
