Snow was falling all across the city.
15 degrees was the high.
Power flickered off and on,
Winds were blowin' all night long.
And you were gone.
You packed your bags and headed for the highway.
Made your way to I-55.
You stopped and grabbed a bite to eat... didn't even stop to think of me alone tonight.
Think I'll die inside.

Chorus:

Cause' life isn't worth the drive without you.
Leaving means that dreams just don't come true.
Wishing on the stars at night and dinner in the
candlelight.
Those dreams fell through... think I'll die inside.

Living here never did seem easy.
Seems you always wanted that goodbye.
Your heart was loving somewhere else,
You kept your thoughts to yourself
Than you were gone.
I ran into a friend who said she seen you,
Livin' on the other side of town.
You didn't say a thing to her
She had a feeling that you were alone tonight think I'll die inside.

Chorus:

Cause' life isn't worth the drive without you.
Leaving means that dreams just don't come true.
Wishing on the stars at night and dinner in the
candlelight.
Those dreams fell through...

Chorus:

Cause' life isn't worth the drive without you.
Leaving means that dreams just don't come true.
Wishing on the stars at night and dinner in the
candlelight.

Those dreams fell through... think I'll die inside.
