Whenever skies look gray to me and troubles begin to brew Whenever the winter wind become to strong I concentrate on you
When fortune cries ney, ney to me and people declare you're through Whenever the blues become my only song I concentrate on you

On your smile so sweet so tender
When at first your kiss I declined
On the light in your eyes when I surrender
And once again our arms intertwine

And so when wisemen say to me that love's young dream never comes true
To prove that even wisemen can be wrong I concentrate on you

Oh, your smile so sweet so tender
When at first your kiss I declined
On the light in your eyes when I surrender
And once again our arms intertwine, oh

dream never comes true
To prove that even wisemen can be wrong I
concentrate on you

On you, oh I concentrate on you, ooh
