Happened to pass your doorway
Gave you a buzz, that's all
Lately I thought lots about you,
So I thought I'd pay a social call
Do you recall the old days,
We used to have a ball
Not that I'm lonesome without you
I just thought I'd pay a social call
I thought I'd say things are just swell
But to tell the truth
I haven't been to well
And if you should try to kiss me,
I promise I won't stall
Maybe we'll get back together
Starting from this incidental, elemental, simple social call
