Plastic needles in my skin Don't ask me what they're for no clue, except for pain and shock You tied me to the bed to mock my eyelids kept wide open so I can see all that you do All this liquid in my eyes come inside my world, friend, if you dare... the curse

It's cold, I shiver while I sweat room without a glimpse of sunlight my head is shaved, my body bruised Can't feel my fingers, everything is numb... the curse

Your reality is twisted
It seems you just don't notice that all you do to me can never touch me mentally, but you can do all this to me It's not like it would matter Much worse than, so much worse than that I can't get you out of my head

Where is that strong human will now?
guess there are things you can't escape from...
I don't know, but something isn't right here...
I guess what you expect from me is fear... the curse

I stare....but there is nothing I can see God knows, with only one hand I could... your giggles reach me from next door
I wonder what is this all for? ... the curse
