When you're young and in love
The whole world seems to know
Love is like a candle light
Always giving off a glow

When you're young and
In love, so in love
All your troubles pass on by
There is nothing in
This whole wide world
That could ever make you cry

When you're in love
You walk in the clouds
The night time turns to day
And the dark clouds
That cover the sky
They just seem to float away

When you're young and
In love, so in love
The whole world seems to know
Love is like a candle light
Always giving off the glow

The whole world seems to know
When you're young and in love
