I was always lonely
Just a face in the crowd
Never thinking aloud
I was always silently hoping that things would change
Nobody ever told me
About the missing time
I was hoping to find
All the pieces of reality i could rearrange

And so i keep watching the skies
Looking for somebody who can feel my pain
Yeah yeah
I'm watching the skies
Is it a bird, or is it a plane
If this is all sounding a little insane you know why

So tell my why the confusion
About the places i've been
The circuitry in my skin
Is always sending me messages that i can't understand

They offer no solution
About just who they are
Could it be the marklar
Got me willed from a far away time and another land

And so i keep watching the skies
Looking for somebody who can feel my pain
Yeah yeah
I'm watching the skies
Is it a bird, or is it a plane
If this is all sounding a little insane you know why

I'm gonna wait til the sun sets
On britannia britannia
Roswelian sunsets
On britannia britannia
My country tisofthe
Don't alienate me

And so i keep watching the skies
Looking for somebody who can feel my pain
Yeah yeah
I'm watching the skies
Is it a bird, or is it a plane
If this is all sounding a little insane you know why

I'm looking for a world or a boat or a plane
If this is all sounding a little insane you know why
Tell me
