I believe in the things I cannot see
I believe that the truth will come to me
And it will flow like a river to the sea
I believe, I believe, I believe

I believe in the dreamer and the dream
I believe that a soul can be redeemed
With dignity in a world that's seeking peace
I believe, I believe, I believe

Through the ages and in my time
I've seen changes
These are the things I believe

I believe in the famine and the feast
I believe in the dawning of the east and the dark, where we struggle with the beast
I believe

I believe in a love for you and me
I believe in the hope that sets you free a gift to you--may this vision be released
I believe, I believe, I believe.

Through the ages, and in my time,
I've seen changes
These are the things I believe.
