So many hills that we have climbed
So many trails we left behind
So many songs that i forget
The journey isn't over yet
Through all the years i've watched you grow
The little secrets we both know
How i held you when you slept
I've always felt the tears you wept

There is a reason for your laughter
There is a reason for your pain
There is a dream you're chasing after
There are some things you'll (we'll) never change

So many rivers we have crossed
The love we found the love we lost
The steps we made i will retrace
The broken memories can't erase
