i was always lonely just a face in the crowd never thinking aloud
i was always silently hoping that things would change nobody ever told me about the missing time i was hoping to find all the pieces of reality i could rearrange and so i keep watching the skies looking for somebody who can feel my pain yeah yeah

i'm watching the skies
is it a bird, or is it a plane if this is all sounding a little insane you know why so tell my why the confusion about the places i've been the circuitry in my skin is always sending me messages that i can't understand

they offer no solution about just who they are could it be the marklar got me willed from a far away time and another land

looking for somebody who can feel my pain

i'm gonna wait til the sun sets on britannia britannia roswelian sunsets
my country tisofthe don't alienate me

i'm looking for a world or a boat or a plane
tell me
