I might have been a singer
Who sailed around the world

A gambler who wins millions
And spent it all on girls

I might have been a poet
Who walked upon the moon

A scientist
Who would tell the world
I discovered something new

I might have loved a king
Been the one to end a war

A criminal
Who drinks champagne
And never
Could be caught

But among your books
Among your clothes
Among the noise
And fuss
I've let it go

I can't stop
And catch my breath
And look no further
For happiness
And I will not
Turn again
Cause my heart
Has found it's home

Everyone
I'll never meet
And the friends
I wont now make
The adventures
That they

Could have been
And the risks
I'll never take

But among your books
Among your clothes
Among your noise
And fuss
I've let it go

I can't stop
And catch my breath
And look no further
For happiness
And I will not
Turn again
Cause my heart
Has found it's home
