I have returned to northern skies
Where summer hasn't touched the clouds that pass
above
I have returned to the sombre grays
Of days too early to come and too hurried to stay

I have left a million stars
And an ocean light and clearly blue
I have left warmth of the sun
And a million adventures not yet begun

For once there was beauty here for me
Under the wide northern skies
And once there was magic here for me
Under the wide northern skies

I saw trees as green and this dark as blue
Heartbreak and poetry with deeper roots
Now I know this is lonely country
And leads me only back to the sea

For once there was beauty here for me
Under the wide northern skies
And once there was magic here for me
Under the wide northern skies

I have returned to northern skies
Where summer hasn't touched the clouds that pass
I have returned to the sombre grays
Days too early to come and too hurried to stay

For once there was beauty here for me
Under the wide northern skies
And once there was magic here for me
Under the wide northern skies

And once there was beauty here for me
Under the wide northern skies
And once there was magic here for me
Under the wide northern skies

I have returned
I have returned
I have returned
