Sometimes the answer to all of my questions
Are too much for me to hear
Truth can be painful and hard to prepare for I'm glad I've got you near
If I had a heart of stone I could turn the other cheek
But that's not me, no
I'd soak it up, I'd take it in
I'd try to deal with everything I feel
The ugliness in this big world
Brings me down and makes me sad
But then there's you
You are perfect
You're the one who makes me see
That everything's much better than it seems to be
You are perfect
You were the answer to all of my questions
About a million times
[Yes you are!]
You make all the difference
You lead the way and point out all the lies
You open up, you open up my eyes
The ugliness in this big world
Brings me down and makes me sad
But then there's you
You are perfect
You're the one who makes me see
That everything's much better than it seems to be
You are perfect
Where would I be without you
You make me perfect
When I'm a mess
When I need someone to run to
You are there right next to me
