You're a butterfly
I'm the flower that you rested on
You were bathing in the sun
And I was swaying you around

Softly carried your thought winds
And hid you from the rain
Then you lifted up your wings
And disappeared just like you came

Chasing a nice dream
Where have you gone from here

Refrain:
You'll never know how much I love you
If you walk away
Find a distant place again
You'll never now how much I wish
You find the perfect place on earth

You'll never know how much I love you
With no second chance
If you don't look back again
You'll never know what I could give you

And maybe you don't care at all

You're a butterfly and I'm just a station
In your long life
No regrets and no goodbyes, no
And I still can't hate you

I didn't do anything to hold you back
Cut off your wings
Build a trap to keep you here by my side
You just lifted up your head and flew without a doubt

No happy end for me
Where have you gone from here
Another one who you amazed and break

No happy end for me
Where have you gone from here
Another one who you amazed and break

No happy end for me
