

Die Young "Some Salvation"

Feel the love because you need a reason to persist feel the love even if it doesn't exist

cast down into this world unknown half-aware and dreadfully alone determined to make sense of this sphere that spins the pious man wakes again content so long as he's convinced there are higher powers watching over us and why should i disagree? we all want to live meaningfully how unfortunate--the numbers don't add up whichever path you follow--faith or science it's all so hollow rest assured we're spiralling toward our dusty end so entertain your fucking selves with delusions of significance as if this universe makes perfect sense...

it all lacks reason once you taste the fruit of eden there is no going back...

feel the fucking love
