Little Miss Dynamite, just blew my world away,
It was a pitiful sight, me beggin' her to stay,
I never had a hunch, so how was I to know,
She packed a punch, that knocked my heart out cold,

She put a hurt on this old cowboy, broke my heart like a little play toy,
Brought me to my knees from ten feet tall,
The night she left me in Amarillo, I cried crocodile tears
in my pillow,
The bigger they are, the harder they fall,
How could a blue-eyed beauty only five foot three,
Lay a Texas size heartache, on me

She came across so cool, I didn't think that I'd get burned,
Now I'm a big ole' fool, with a leavin' lesson learned,
Thought I was strong, like ole' Hercules,

She proved me wrong, with her little "Ce La Vie",

She put a hurt on this old cowboy, broke my heart like a
little play toy,
Brought me to my knees from ten feet tall,
The night she left me in Amarillo, I cried crocodile tears
in my pillow,
The bigger they are, the harder they fall,
How could a blue-eyed beauty only five foot three,
Lay a Texas size heartache, on me

How could a blue-eyed beauty only five foot three,
Lay a Texas size heartache, on me
