Smoke fills my mind;
Noise is too unbearable;
Darkness fills my kind,
And I swear I can't change.

Rest is what I need;
I tirelessly work;
For my soul to feed,
I need something now.

And then I rise and fall;
My heart is breaking Heaven,
But in this heal I lie, so raw,
Because in this turning world,
I am so alone right now,
As I keep staying, I'm sure.

If the clouds could cry,
The sky would die;
On the days my body lies,
Something deep inside me tries to fly.

My heart stays chained;
My brain's on overload,
And as I fall to my knees -
Maybe a not so lonely road.

And then I rise and fall;
My heart is breaking Heaven,
But in this heal I lie, so raw,
Because in this turning world,
I am so alone right now,
As I keep staying, I'm sure.

Smoke fills my mind;
Noise is unbearable,
And out of the darkness,
Comes my triumphant angel.
