I painted a picture of you
Your soul was red, and your mind was blue
Destiny laid a light on my creation
This dream i had made
A slave of my passion
Reality was always too far away
And we were happy
Until it came too close one day
All of a sudden i faced
The truth of my dream
My love had only been a picture a scene
I suppose i needed too believe
Didn't want too see
You had never been close to me
Im sorry, this illusion
Has caused you a lot of pain
And i have no solution
I'll try to never be back again
I'm sotty
Yes i painted a picture of youmy dream was a lie
And the lie became truth
Reality held it's breath too long
It's disgusting what dreams can do
