I close my eyes, still I can see you clearly
And it burst me up inside, hey
Another night I miss you here beside me
Trying to figure out my life

Oh I made the way too long
And now she's moving on alone
She said she was heading

Back to her future, throwing the heads up
We were going nowhere
She said she would not assume, no
I thought I would chase her, she don't feel the same

And if I don't make a move
I'm sure gonna lose the biggest part of me
So whatever it takes, I'm gonna find a way
To get back in her future

Deep inside I try to find the reason why
I couldn't give the strength you needed
Reaching out, what are the pieces missing of?
Could they have slipped away?

Oh, I made the way too long
And now she's moving on alone
She said she was heading

Back to her future, throwing the hands up
We were going nowhere
She said she would not assume, no
I thought I would chase her, she don't feel the same

And if I don't make a move
I'm sure gonna lose the biggest part of me
So whatever it takes, I'm gonna find a way

To get back in her future

All in all I can't blame her for calling it quits
Should have been more attentive to her every need

She said she was heading
Back to her future, throwing the hands up
We were going nowhere
She said she would not assume, no
I thought I would chase her, she don't feel the same

And if I don't make a move
I'm sure gonna lose the biggest part of me
So whatever it takes, I'm gonna find a way
To get back in her future
