I got the feeling when I looked at you tonight
That you've given up trying
Have you left it up to me
To be the one to keep our love from dying?

If I could I'd take you in my arms
And bring us back to being close
But how can I hold you
If you're letting go?

I won't pretend I've got the answers figured out
But I can't stop believing
Hanging on to what we got
Is still a better way to go than leaving

I'd do anything to make you stay
But I can't do it all alone
How can I hold you
If you're letting go?

So please, don't let this be the end
Hold out some hope that we can try again
I'd do anything to make you stay
But I can't do it all alone

How can I hold you
If you're letting go?
How can I hold you
If you're letting go?
