when you think of the one brings a cloud to your eye
every moment you smile
rain lets up for awhile
sun starts clearing your sky

every night you cry alone every tear a raindrop and every time you're on your own and you wish the hurt would stop the sun will never hurt you the warmth of rays will hold you and every time you wonder why remember what i told you you've been waiting for a sign you wouldn't need if you were mine the littlest clouds could feel the sun shine

let the rays come inside they'll make everything right let the sun embrace you
all the feelings you hide let 'em go with the tide
give the moon a place too you been hurt the cloud's rolling your heart is close to broken don't want to move you're feeling down catch the rain it's coming 'round the sun would never hurt you
