If your circle stays unbroken
Then you're a lucky man
Cause it never, never, never has for me

In the palace of the virgin
Lies the chalice of the soul
And it's likely you might find the answer there

She had thirteen years of teenage tears
And never a helping hand
She had fourteen more of rain before
She saw the sight of land
She was a photograph just ripped in half
A smile inside a frown
And the the light, the answer right
Inside her coming down

I can go away
I can leave here
I can be invisible
And go away

He was just eighteen and in-between
A lady and a man
He's daddy's girl in momma's world
That was when he ran
You know the word confused has been abused
But that's just what he was
And then the spark inside the dark
The answer came because it said

You can go away
You can leave here
You can be invisible
Well I grew up quick and I felt the kick
Of life upon a stage
So I bought the book and took a fast look
At just the very last page
It was a single word that I'd just heard
From the two that came before
The only way to really stay
Is to walk right out the door

So I go away
I'm gonna leave here
I can be invisible
Go away again

I can go away
When I leave here
I can be invisible

When I go away
Lord you know it's right to leave here
So I just became invisible
I went away

Disappear before your eyes

You'll never touch me
You'll never feel me
You'll never see me again because I've just become unseen

When I'm a photograph that's been torn in half We're all eighteen and we're in between
We need a helping hand through the holy land to be Invisible

To go away
