My Life took its last drink today.
Of the light that faded away.
I gave up my breath.
Because its time to see the greatest mystery.
Blown on the breeze.

So goodbye
Don't cry

I looked at death and it wept.
Like the winter screams watering the spring.
I've come so long the journey must go on.
Because we never end, sometimes we must begin again.
Dust on the wind

Good bye
Don't cry
Cause ill fly high
When I die

The living are crying for the dying.
The dying are giving to the living.
After life
Into the light
