If you're wondering what will turn your world around
Lift you up when your heart is down
You can pick yourself up off the ground
By virtue of your faith

In the midst of rainy weather
Feeling like the sun will never
Shine again but oh my friend somehow

In the midst of rainy weather
Clouds don't stay forever
God can see between the trees
He sees you now

If you're wondering what will turn your world around
Lift you up when your heart is down
You can pick yourself up off the ground
By virtue of your faith

Walking down that path alone
Circumstances not your own
Casting heavy shadows on your life
But every path will turn a corner
Every step will bring you closer
Heaven knows when you're ready you will see the light

If you're wondering what will turn your world around
Lift you up when your heart is down
You can pick yourself up off the ground
By virtue of your faith

When you feel the world is just too hard to bear
Walking down that road to nowhere
Turn yourself around and you'll be there
By virtue of your faith

Some-days you just can't win
NO NO!

But everyday you wake up again

And the sun will shine and the clouds will start to break

When you jump in and declare your faith

If you're wondering what will turn your world around
Lift you up when your heart is down
You can pick yourself up off the ground
By virtue of your faith

When you feel the world is just too hard to bear
Walking down that road to nowhere
Turn yourself around and you'll be there
By virtue of your faith

Turn yourself around
